Book Festival Exhibition Opportunities

The [margins.] Book Festival highlights storytelling from marginalized communities through reading, book signing, open mic, multidisciplinary arts performance events, and a public book fair.

Held in the Santa Fe Arts district in collaboration with a variety of partners, the festival will be a city-wide event, free to the public, expected to bring a wide-ranging reading audience from the Denver metro region and beyond, in addition to our national and local conference attendees and speakers.

We invite you join us with an exhibitor space at our public book fair.
