Editor-Writer Mentorship

promoting voices from the margins

By The Word | A Storytelling Sanctuary

We invite aspiring writers from marginalized backgrounds to apply to be matched with an experienced editor. Editor-Mentors will provide feedback on a manuscript being prepared for submission to agents and editors for publication.

Program Overview

What is the Program? Aspiring writers from underrepresented groups (see explanation below) will be paired with an experienced editor who will provide substantive feedback to help raise a strong manuscript to its best position for submission to potential agents and editors. This is an opportunity to learn from the knowledge of experienced acquiring editors. This program is free of cost due to the generosity of our volunteer mentor-editors.

Mentor-Editors & Genres:

- TJ Ohler, Assistant Editor at Zando
 - Picture Book (fiction or nonfiction)
- Leyla Erkan, Assistant Editor at Christy Ottaviano Books
 - Middle Grade (fiction or nonfiction)
- Rachel Diebel, Feiwel & Friends (an imprint of Macmillan Children's Publishing Group)
 - Young Adult (fiction or nonfiction)
- Charlotte Peters, Editorial Assistant at Dutton
 - Adult Romance

Application Deadline: Applications will be accepted from Wednesday, July 10, 2024 (8:00 a.m. Denver/U.S. Mountain Daylight Time) to Sunday, August 4, 2024 (11:59 p.m. Denver/US Mountain Daylight Time).

Eligibility: Aspiring or upcoming writers from underrepresented groups (see definition below) with a completed, unpublished manuscript may apply. Applicants may apply in only one (1) category; the categories are picture book (fiction & nonfiction), middle-grade (fiction & nonfiction), young adult (fiction & nonfiction), general adult fiction, and adult romance (as described in the Mentor-Editors section).

Application Follow-up: All applicants will hear from The Word approx. late October 2024. Three (3) finalists in each category will be asked to submit full manuscripts prior to this time. Please check your email regularly in September and add mentorship@thewordfordiversity.org to your contacts to prevent our emails from going to your spam or junk folder. If selected as a finalist, you will have one (1) week to submit your full manuscript or forfeit your spot. Editor-Mentors will choose their mentees by late September or early October 2024.

Additional Explanations & Information

How do we focus our search for underrepresented voices? We promote the inclusive representation of experiences in literature, including a diversity of experiences based on:

racial, cultural, ethnic, or religious identity; gender identity; sexual orientation; physical, cognitive, or emotional disability; socioeconomic adversity; and personal experiences of adversity or injustice.

*We recognize that personal experiences of adversity occur in many forms and we believe that the impact of each must be respected. To guide the use of our resources, we focus on experiences that lack representation in literature, based on our best knowledge and research.

Additional Program Information: Mentors and mentees will determine their contact schedules and frequency based on the needs of both parties. All mentors and mentees will be provided guidelines and resources to help promote productive working relationships. The mentorship relationship does not guarantee publication of any completed work and mentors are not expected to provide any referrals to acquiring agents, editors, or others. The program's goal is to support the development of the mentee writer's work.

Mentors and mentees will have a minimum of two meetings over an approximately 6-9 month mentorship relationship. Feedback may be written or oral, as is determined by each volunteer editor-mentor. Additional meetings and feedback will be determined by each mentor/mentee pair, based on the volunteer editor's availability and the needs of the mentee.
